

BI249W Readings in Biblical Theology: Reading Romans with Barth

S D Giere

1 credit hours Credit/No Credit

OBJECTIVES:

- To explore classic and new perspectives on biblical theology;
- To consider creatively and critically different vantages on biblical theology;
- To better one's skills as a reader;
- To bring readings into conversation with life and ministry in the church and the world.

PROCEDURES:

Participants are expected to prepare by reading the text assigned for a given week and come prepared to discuss the week's readings.

EVALUATION:

Attendance is expected. Evaluation will be based on demonstrated preparedness, creative and integrative conversational engagement, and collegiality.

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Required:

Karl Barth, The Epistle to the Romans (Edwin C. Hoskins, trans.; London: Oxford, 1968).